

Corn Chamomile aka Scentless Chamomile is an annual that has a daisy like flower measuring $\frac{3}{4}$ " diameter. It is a bushy multi-branched plant growing $1\frac{1}{2}$ ' - 2' tall. A member of the Sunflower family it is a European native that is of no value but now grows around the world. It is becoming increasingly rampant in Colorado. It is a quite adaptable plant typically flowering from May to October whose other common name is dog fennel.